Say more.

A method for each of the four parts, and phrases for when you get stuck.

Four parts · 12 minutes · with a partner

THE TEST AT A GLANCE

No. 02

Four parts in twelve minutes

PART 1 · 2–3 MIN

Interview

The examiner asks you about yourself.

PART 2 · 1 MIN EACH

Photo

You describe a photo on your own.

PART 3 · 2–3 MIN

Discussion

You choose something with your partner.

PART 4 · 3 MIN

Conversation

You give opinions on the same topic.

Two examiners: one asks the questions, the other listens and gives marks.

HOW YOU ARE MARKED

No. 03

Four things the examiner listens for

Grammar and Vocabulary

Simple and some longer sentences, and enough words for everyday topics.

Discourse Management

Longer answers that stay on topic, with ideas linked together.

Pronunciation

Easy to understand: clear sounds, word stress and intonation.

Interactive Communication

Start, respond, ask your partner and keep the conversation going.

Grow every answer

1. Practise your name, where you live and who you live with.
2. Never answer with just one word.
3. Add a reason, an example or a detail.
4. Match the tense: yesterday → past, next weekend → future.
5. Didn't understand? Ask: "Sorry, could you repeat that?"

"What do you do at weekends?"

ANSWER

I usually play football with my friends.

+ REASON

I love it because it helps me relax after school.

+ EXAMPLE

Last Saturday we played in the park and won!

PART 2 · 1 MINUTE EACH · A PHOTOGRAPH

No. 05

Paint the picture in words

1. Start big: where is it, and who is there?
2. Then the people: what are they doing, wearing, feeling?
3. Then the place and things: there is, there are.
4. Guess when you aren't sure: they might be…
5. Keep talking until the examiner says "Thank you".

USEFUL FRAMES

In the background…

On the left, there's…

They might be…

It looks like…

Don't know a word? "It's a kind of…", "It's something you use for…"

PART 3 · 2–3 MINUTES · WITH YOUR PARTNER

No. 06

Discuss, then decide

1. Listen to the situation: what are you choosing, and for whom?
2. Take the pictures one by one: suggest, give a reason, ask.
3. Start with the easy ones. You don't need to cover them all.
4. Agree or disagree politely, and always say why.
5. Finish with a choice: "I think X would be the best because…"

SUGGEST

How about…? · Why don't they…?

ASK

What do you think? · Do you agree?

AGREE

That's true. · Exactly! · Me too.

DISAGREE

I'm not so sure. · Yes, but…

DECIDE

the best · the most useful · the most fun

Talk with your partner

Do

- Look at your partner, not the examiner.
- React: Really? That's a great idea!
- Ask: What about you?
- Share the time equally.

Don't

- Talk for the whole time.
- Wait in silence to be asked.
- Give long speeches without asking.
- Worry about disagreeing. Polite is fine.

A conversation, not two speeches.

PART 4 · 3 MINUTES · DISCUSSION

Opinion, reason, example

1. The questions follow on from the Part 3 topic.
2. Give your opinion and say why, before anyone asks.
3. Use your own life: “When I was on holiday last year…”
4. Bring your partner in: “And you?”, “Do you agree?”
5. Both stuck? Don’t worry: the examiner asks a new question.

THE FORMULA

Opinion
I’d prefer… / In my opinion…

+ Reason
because… / so…

+ Example
For example, last summer…

WHEN YOU GET STUCK

No. 09

Phrases that save you

DIDN'T UNDERSTAND

"Sorry, could you repeat that, please?"

NEED TIME

"Let me think… That's a good question."

FORGOT A WORD

"It's something you use for…"

MADE A MISTAKE

"Sorry, I mean…" and carry on.

NOTHING TO SAY

"What do you think about it?"

WANT TO ADD MORE

"Also… Another thing is…"

Mistakes are normal. Examiners mark how well you communicate, not perfection.

Say more.
Give reasons.
Listen to your partner.

Good luck in the exam.
